1. Course Description

This course aims to introduce students to the basic concepts and rules of law. The main objective of the course is to equip students with a practical understanding of the law and to stimulate and deepen their motivation for studying the law. Students should learn how a lawyer approaches legal problems, and become sufficiently familiar with the relevant rules so that they too can advise a hypothetical client of what his rights and liabilities are in a particular situation, for example, if he is charged with a crime, or considers that his private rights have been violated and wishes to sue the perpetrator.

The course surveys the principal rules governing civil and criminal actions, examines how courts operate, what sources of law are available to them, and looks in detail at typical legal problems. A selection of the relevant rules is studied in reasonable depth. In the process, it is hoped that students will, as well as acquiring an overall knowledge of law, also gain a feel for "how law works in practice". Students will try working with resources and will gain a better orientation in the systematics of law. Thus, students will become familiar with the main areas of law, i.e., constitutional law, government, property, contracts and treaties, crimes, torts, legal forms and procedures, legal interpretation, and justice through a comparative approach in European continental tradition, common law tradition, and Russian legal tradition.

2. Student Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, the student will be able to:

- Demonstrate a clear understanding of the main concepts of law, in particular the nature of legal rights and the remedies available to plaintiffs when their rights are breached (legal wrongs)
- Describe the structure, personnel (judges, lawyers, and parties to the action), and function of courts and the particular rules governing the conduct of legal actions

- Distinguish clearly between the concepts of public and private law, and between natural persons and legal persons
- Understand and be able to illustrate how the jurisdiction of courts over places and persons operates
- Describe the principal legal rules relating to the law of contract, tort, and criminal law, among others, and be able to apply them effectively to particular day-to-day problems
- Explain some of the legal rules which are of particular importance within a business context, especially rules governing the formation of companies, their legal capacity and potential liability, as well as the rules relating to insolvency
- Explain what happens to property and obligations following death
- Describe the principal sources of law and explain how these have come into being
- Make effective use of relevant cases and statutes in support of legal arguments
- Use appropriate legal terminology and language with reasonable confidence and accuracy
